HEY THERE! Molly Sunnyday,
president of the Phantoma Research Society!
(and its most active member~!). My passion is finding strange and dangerous things in this world and letting others know about it. I've never been all that much of a problem solver.

I'm haunted, but not in the trauma way.
Ever since I was little, there have always been ghosts following me.
I can't see them except in photos taken of me,
but my girlfriend can!
If you want to know more, read the other book!

After the smashing success of the W.W.W. Curse and Survival Guide, my inbox has been kind of full! Theres a lot of fucking WEIRD things out there on the net! Did you hear about the vampires seen at the local mall?
The way my contact said it, they dress all prim and proper,like maids or butlers, but instead of a face, they got nothing but a rippling pool of mercury!
Talk about drowning in it, huh! Or what about the girl who turned into a hulking massive robot and tried suplexing Skyview Tower before falling apart into modems...Think she's still livin' in wifi?

Still, with all that aside... I'm kind of beat.
It's so hard to be on the lookout for terrible things all the time.
It's not even just the supernatural! Rent is DISGUSTING.
That damned eagle is on EVERY channel now, artificially inserted even into classic programming.
To top it off, since the Federated States were absorbed by Mexico and Canada, the global value of eyecons has never been worse. Top that off with the looming war between the Pacifican Confederacy and all I ever want to do is stay home.

Most days I could do with just shutting the door to my apartment, holding Dusty and Mellow tight and never letting the two of them go. But there is more to life than holding girls you love. Sometimes you gotta get out and live! Thankfully if you live here in Vasahal, we have

Dionaea
Plaza

Three floors of shopping, amusement, and TERROR all tuned to the senses
of even the most rebellious netpunk.
Sensational filters tweak your hormonal center with hallucinogenic mist as you dive deep into the mall of your dreams!!!

Everyone goes to the mall differently, did you know?
Some are just there to browse, others shop themselves sick.
The best of us are just food court enthusiasts.

What's your mall like? No one's got the same kind really.
Mine is always warm. Bright pinks and soft green floors give way to a dark neon-lit paradise where every store is mostly empty except for the REALLY good stuff and none of them are boring! And the food court's always cheap!

Dusty says her's is clean and cool,
with nothing but fashionable clothes and relaxing chairs,
and no sounds but the click of heels across soft marble and rushing water from infinite water sculptures.
Ultimately, I think your mall is determined by the algorithm anyway; Federated State law requires businesses to incorporate algorithms in everything these days.

However, the mall itself is really just a series of elevator floors and hypnotic lights, meaning I can let you in on some of the REALLY cool or SUPER dangerous shops in the mall by just telling you their access codes.

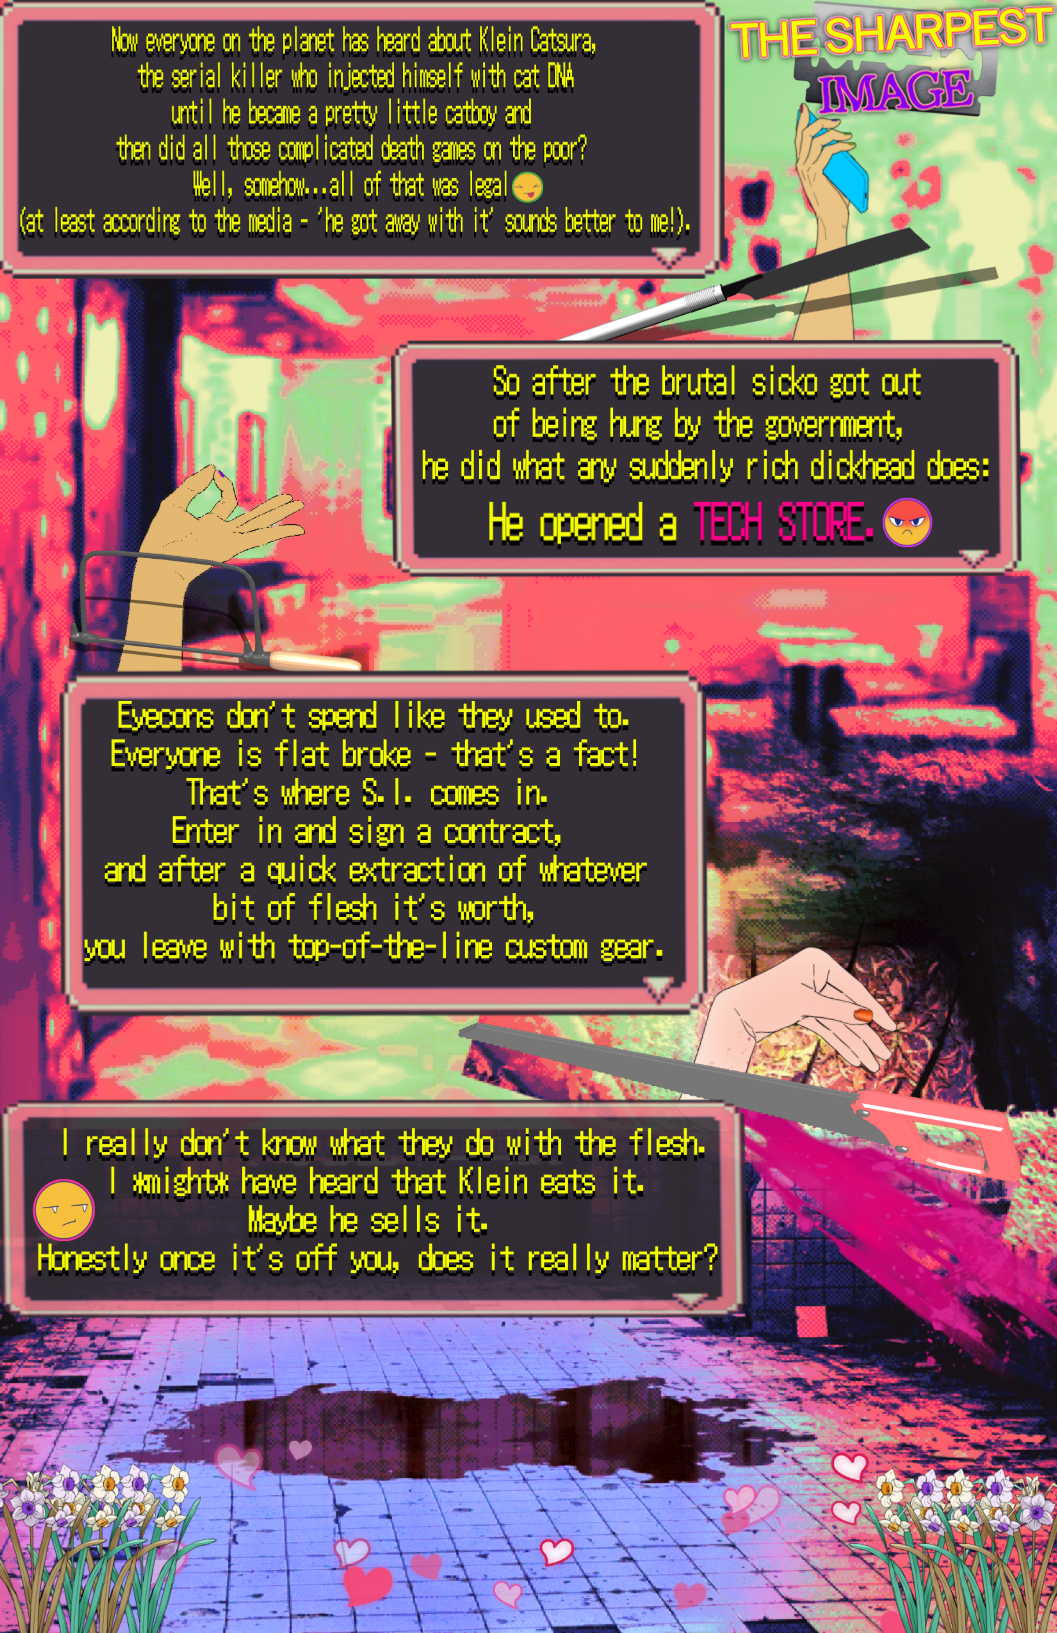
What do you say, netizen?
Wanna take a trip to the mall with me?



Now everyone on the planet has heard about Klein Catsura, the serial killer who injected himself with cat DNA until he became a pretty little catboy and then did all those complicated death games on the poor?
Well, somehow...all of that was legal😋 (at least according to the media - 'he got away with it' sounds better to me!).

So after the brutal sicko got out of being hung by the government, he did what any suddenly rich dickhead does:
He opened a TECH STORE.😠

Eyecons don't spend like they used to.
Everyone is flat broke - that's a fact!
That's where S.I. comes in.
Enter in and sign a contract, and after a quick extraction of whatever bit of flesh it's worth,
you leave with top-of-the-line custom gear.

I really don't know what they do with the flesh.
I might have heard that Klein eats it.
Maybe he sells it.
Honestly once it's off you, does it really matter?

That all being said, it's one of the most useful stores in the mall.
LIKE, I know...Don't look at me like that!
I've given a finger or two to get a new thermal camera or military grade gazer.
And I've given the rest of what was left to get a cybernetic hand to even it all out, too...
We all have to make ends meet somehow, and who wants to do it without cool stuff?

The often out-of-business, but never uncool
Yacht Topic is THE Boat Goth Superstore.
With everything you need to play it loud on or off deck.
Studded belts are always half off!
All t-shirts are waterproof and the eyeliner flows like wine.
Old Hirem Boats may be a dirty billionaire who is too cool for land, but man does that motherfucker know how to print a graphic tee!
There's a section near the back of every Yacht Topic that doubles as a demon summoning conduit, which thankfully no one has ever used!
...Hopefully. I think I'd die if Lucifer called me a poser.
You know, before he ripped my head off.

MR SHOEZ

be your own thing!

So let's start with the rumors.
We already know that the man himself has used a few aliases:
Senior Sneaks, Mondo Bootman,
Lil' Steppa, EL GUAPO DE LACES...
We know now that Mr. Shoes isn't...Human.
He isn't really anything that's from here. I've heard Mr. Shoes has been on this plane of reality for roughly about 10000 years now.

The first location, formally senior sneaks

Personally, I think he learned the art of making shoes back from the ancient Greeks or Aztecs and just really kept at it. The creed of "Be your own thing!" is the only thing Mr. Shoes lives by, and therefore he made a shop that sells high quality sports gear, shoes and accessories all in handy bundles for low prices.

Oh this drip? You know I got it at MR. SHOEZ

AIR SHOEZ

For those looking to relax on THURSDAY: Once per game gain the ability [Omni Jump Kick]
You got a pair of Mr. Shoes's famous "Kick Strider" martial arts shoes. Combined with your recent psychic awakening, you should be able to empower your kicks with the burning flames of your mental fortitude. Once per day, anytime you choose to BE A HERO and use a kick, you can overcharge it to do INSANE harm. However you suffer -1 to all rolls anytime you get into a fight for the rest of the day. Save it for the climax!
The battery in your shoes might burn up upon use,
so be careful!

Fuck! Thank god! Something fucking NORMAL.
There's only one type of pizza that matters,
and that is LOCAL STYLE. I'm tawlking octagonal,
I'm tawlking a chili oil infused red pizza sauce,
I'm a tawlking about the best in the known galaxy,
PIZZA PRINCE.
Now, yes, recently the corporation that owns Pizza Prince did discover ribbon theory worlds were absolutely real.

Turns out our world is just one of trillions floating in small pockets of space held in place by ribbons of light.
Now, again, maybe it's because those breadsticks are out of this world, but somehow they got the ability to send new franchise owners on a one way ticket to new worlds.
I wonder if someone on another earth is having a Boiwife Box right now?
I hope everyone else's national governments made it illegal for places to not give you multiple entrees, a joint and a small toy with every meal.
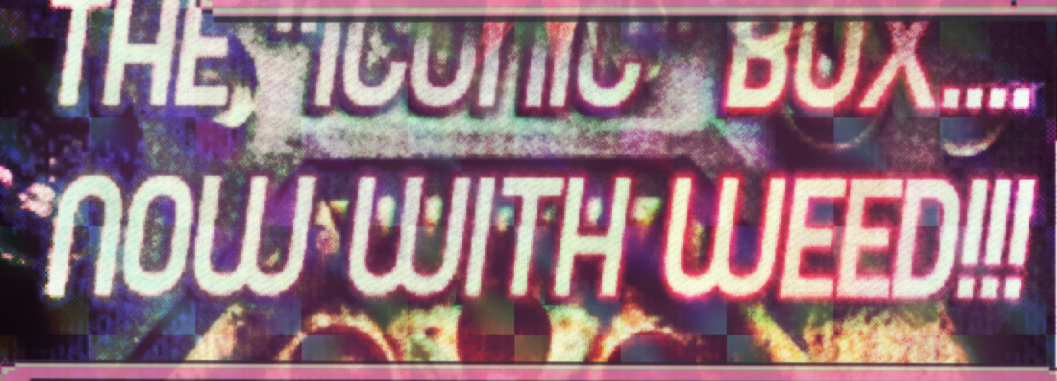
But if not, Pizza Prince is there for you!!



THE "ICONIC" BOX....
NOW WITH WEED!!!

For those looking to relax on FRIDAYS and MONDAYS:
For one day, gain the ability
[THAT'S LOCAL BABY]

Whenever you are in a bind, you can set aside exactly 10 minutes to eat a Boiwife Box. Respected throughout the known universe, any creature that has a soul will give you time to enjoy your meal. Useable only once.

God...what a babe!!!

So honestly I'm not really sure what this one is.
It's just...dark in there.
No employees, nothing to buy.
Just a void that stretches far deeper than that store itself.
I can see something in it sometimes, compelling me to walk through,
to find out what truth is behind those doors.
Its dark red eyes glowing as slender hands tempt me ever closer.
Manicured nails caress my face
as eyes watch me from every direction.

I am seen. I am known.

I've always been known.

She misses me.
Every time I pass by I make her so sad.
I don't want her to cry anymore.

PRETZELS

For those looking to TRAVEL on Saturdays:

The Gap in reality takes you somewhere that is far away, but exactly where you need to be.
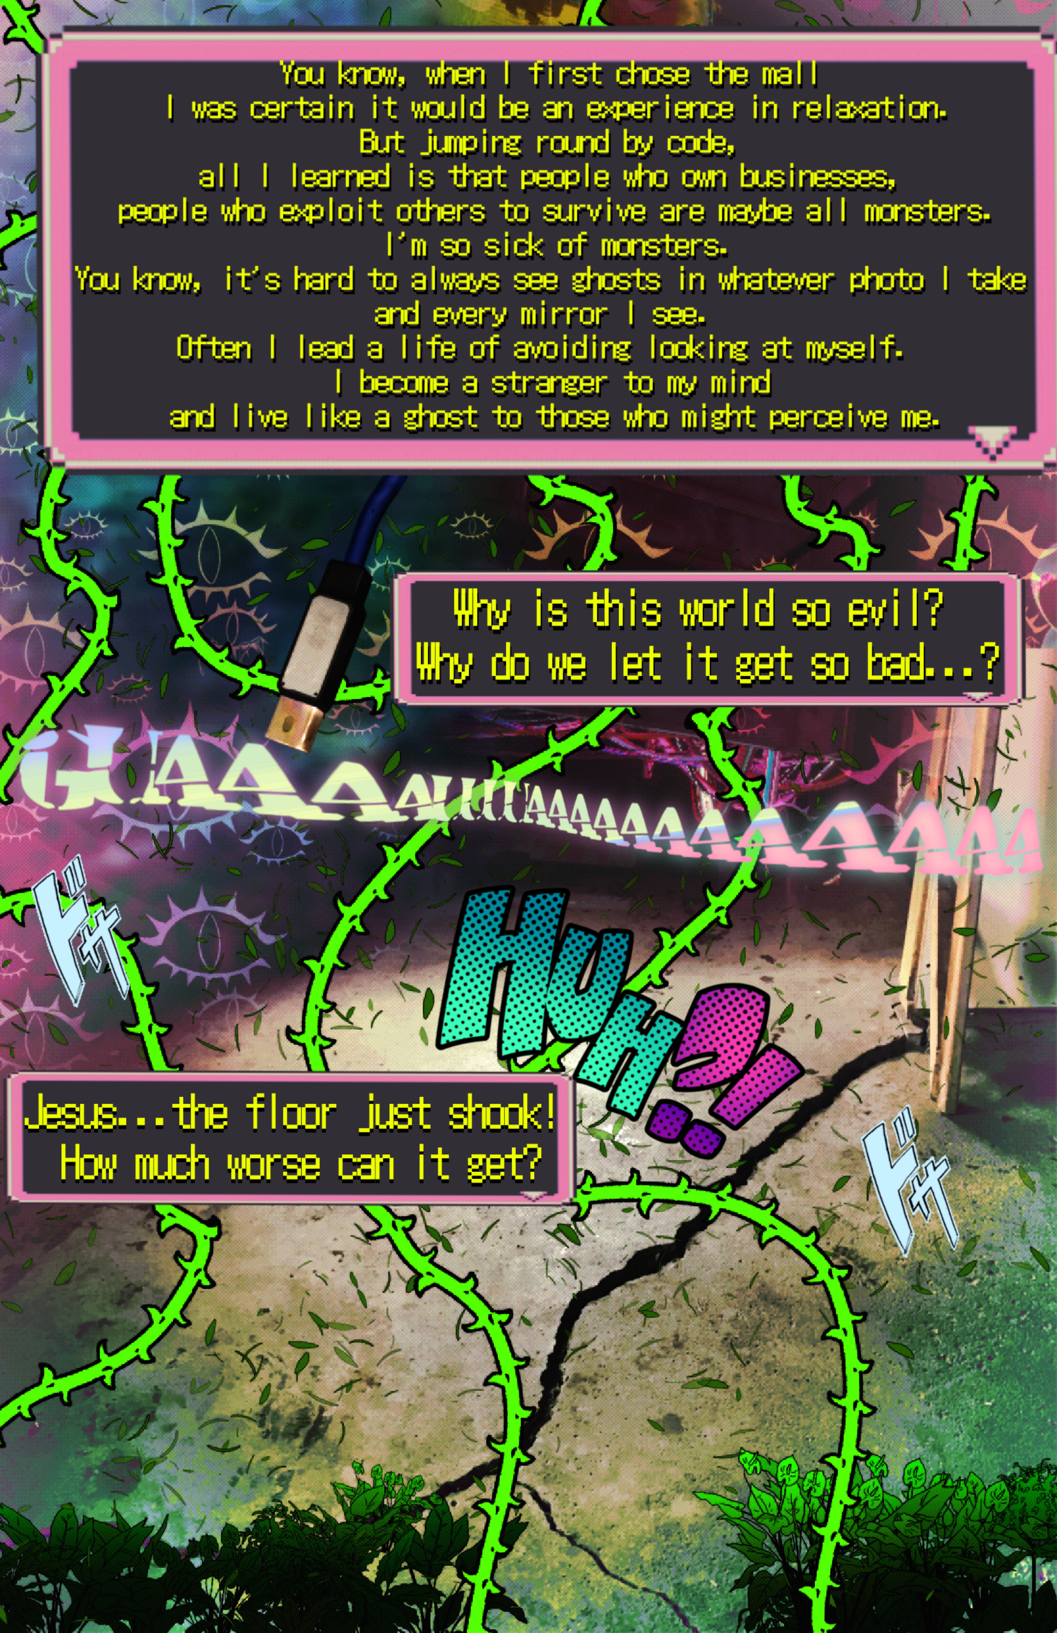
However, a horrible creature is now stalking you.
Better deal with it fast!



You know, when I first chose the mall
I was certain it would be an experience in relaxation.
But jumping round by code,
all I learned is that people who own businesses,
people who exploit others to survive are maybe all monsters.
I'm so sick of monsters.
You know, it's hard to always see ghosts in whatever photo I take and every mirror I see.
Often I lead a life of avoiding looking at myself.
I become a stranger to my mind and live like a ghost to those who might perceive me.
Why is this world so evil?
Why do we let it get so bad...?
GUAAAAUUUAAAAAAAAAAAA

HUH?!!
Jesus...the floor just shook!
How much worse can it get?

Tendrils wrapped around Molly's throat.

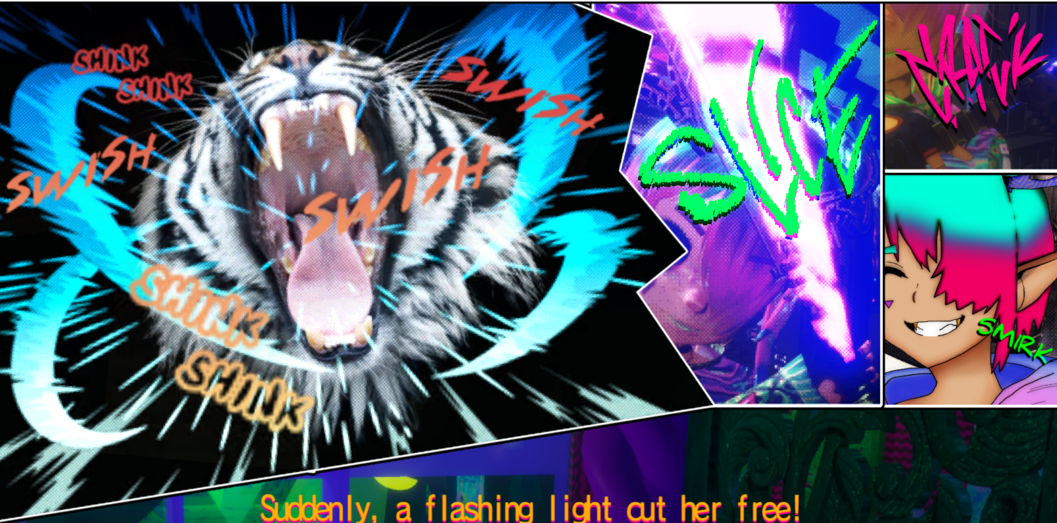
Leafy vines shivered as she rose, gasping for breath while hoisted 12 feet into the air, pulled ever closer into the toothy grin of that terrible plant.

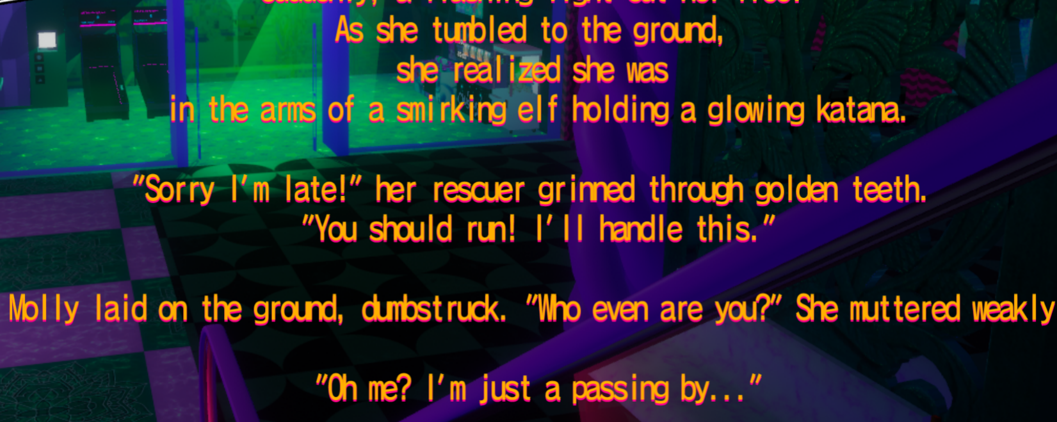
This was how it was going to end.

Choking to death, food for a flower.

Molly closed her eyes and thought of Dusty, of Mellow.

She silently apologized to them for not being able to come home...





Suddenly, a flashing light cut her free!
As she tumbled to the ground,
she realized she was in the arms of a smirking elf holding a glowing katana.

"Sorry I'm late!" her rescuer grinned through golden teeth.
"You should run! I'll handle this."

Molly laid on the ground, dumbstruck. "Who even are you?" She muttered weakly

"Oh me? I'm just a passing by..."
